of Government and Public Affairs

Dear Mr. Fleming:

Thank you for your letter of July 2, 1985, responding to my earlier communication and identifying the schools and academic disciplines at Clemson that might participate in the Central Intelligence Agency Officer-in-Residence Program, and for sending me your 1985-86 Announcements.

To begin the Program we have negotiated the placement of our first Officer-in-Residence for 1985-86 with Georgetown University's Institute for the Study of Diplomacy, where he will serve as an Associate and both teach and engage in related research in the Institute's Master's Program.

The agreement we reached with Georgetown University can be used as a model for the others that we hope will follow. The Officer-in-Residence will remain a full-time, regular staff employee of the Agency and will be so identified. He will take up office in the Institute and receive day-to-day supervision from administrative and academic officials there. We will defray overhead expenses directly related to his assignment. The appointment at Georgetown does not entail the shipment of household effects or rental payments, but those, too, we are prepared to underwrite when appropriate.

Clearly, an undertaking of this kind demands a painstaking review of the needs of the participating colleges and universities and the skills of those of our senior officers who enlist in the program.

Letter to Mr. Fleming

Thanks to your foresight in sending me the Announcements, as well as a list of the colleges at Clemson that may participate, I am in a position to seek out senior Agency officers whose academic backgrounds and work experience offer promise for our mutual undertaking. This I will do in concert with the other three Deputy Directors and our Career Management Staffs. Once I have accomplished that, I think we can begin to talk more specifically -- perhaps here in Washington, at your convenience.

In the meantime, I thank you for your continuing interest and support.

Sincerely,

Harry E. Fitzwater
Deputy Director for Administration

Mr. Harry E. Fitzwater
Deputy Director for Administration
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D. C. 20505

Dear Mr. Fitzwater:

Thank you for your letter of June 11, 1985 providing further information on your Central Intelligence Agency Officer-In-Residence program.

I have been directed by our Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, Dr. W. David Maxwell, to indicate to you rather widespread interest on our campus, among the many colleges and departments, in taking advantage of this program. In fact, since several of our academic colleges have expressed the same interest, I cannot at this time narrow sufficiently the fields among which we might request participation in your program. They range from engineering through history and encompass nine colleges: Agriculture, Commerce and Industry, Engineering, Architecture and Planning Studies, Sciences, Liberal Arts, Nursing, Education, and Forest and Recreation Resources.

To give you a better understanding of Clemson University and our academic offerings, I am enclosing herewith a copy of our current Clemson University Announcements. If you have officers designated for this program already who would have an interest in any of these areas or if certain of your officers might be interested in such a choice of possible opportunities, we could discuss this further with you.

Thank you for your consideration. We look forward to following up this inquiry and expression of interest in your residency program.

Sincerely,

Horace W. Fleming
Director
